Chadbourne Gifts 22 Race Horses Are Accepted at Ceremony Friday

Heroic bronze statues of Hendrick Hudson, Peter Stuyvesant and Governor George Clinton were officially presented to the city by Mrs. Emily Crane Chadbourne of Stone Ridge Friday night and were accepted for the city by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk.

Police estimated 250 persons attended the dedicatory services which were held at the base of the statues on Academy Green.

In local history

Hudson the English navigator, was leader of the expedition which is credited with discovery and exploration of the Hudson river in 1609.

Stuyvesant, last of the Dutch governors of New Netherlands, is noted for bringing peace to the early settlers of this area at a time when they were troubled with Indian attacks, and for granting the charter to the village of Wiltwyck in 1661.

Clinton who served as brigadier-general of militia during the Revolution was elected first governor of New York state under its constitution. He served seven terms as governor and was twice elected vice president of the United States.

Mayor Newkirk, after reviewing the steps taken by the Common Council and the trustees of Academy Green in providing for the erection of the statues, thanked Mrs. Chadbourne for providing the city with these well executed representations of three men to whom the city owes much. He said that for many years, citizens will see the statues and reflect upon the city's historic past.

The mayor termed Academy Green an appropriate location for the statues, as it is perhaps the city's best known park and one where many persons stop to rest on warm summer days.

The dedicatory address was delivered by Herbert H. Herman, Woodstock portrait artist, who reviewed the background of the three men represented and the sculptor, John Mussey Rhind.

Heermann also told of the events leading up to Mrs. Chadbourne's purchase of the statues and her subsequent presentation of them to Kingston.

Rescued Statues

About two years ago, Heermann said, Mrs. Chadbourne saw a picture in a newspaper of the Clinton statue being lowered from the Corn Exchange building in New York. The statue had been around its neck. It was headed for a Brooklyn junkyard, he said.

Something inspired Mrs. Chadbourne to act in acquiring the statues, Heermann said. "Perhaps it was the proud bearing of Clinton's head—even with a rope around its neck," he said.

He described Mrs. Chadbourne's work in locating the junkyard in which the statues lay amid twisted metal, as a "heroic work."

Behind Powerful Artist

Heermann said he previously knew little of the sculptor, but as a trained observer of art he (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

To Install New Meters

The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation notified police Friday afternoon that the work of replacing existing gas meters with new ones designed to measure natural gas will begin "within a few days." The change-over of meters will affect nearly every home in the city, the company said.

Test Vote Scheduled Monday On Bill for Rent Controls

Washington, June 10 (AP)—A final vote on passage of the bill Monday. The measure would continue federal rent controls for six months beyond the present June 30 expiration date. Local communities could get another half year of ceilings by asking for them.

A similar bill is pending before the House, which had cancelled its original plans to vote on the measure this week at the urging of Luce.

Opponents of the bill, led by Cain, had hoped to delay a Senate vote until the House acted, in the belief that the measure would not fare so well on that side of the Capitol.

With that presumably in mind, Cain started his delaying tactics Wednesday. On Thursday, the Senate took time out to which through some 200 minor bills, under an agreement which let the Washington Senator regain the floor yesterday.

At 10:58 he launched his one-man filibuster. He continued, with only brief interruptions, until shortly after 11 p. m. last night.

When Cain finally quit the lawmakers became involved in a wrangle which kept them in session almost four hours longer.

Urges Forrestal Diary Study for Amerasia Clues

Brewster Wants President to Examine Notes, Make Report Public

Washington, June 10 (AP)—Senator Brewster (R-Me.) urged President Truman today to study the late James V. Forrestal's diary for a possible clue to the origin of a "go slow" request in the 1945 Amerasia case arrests.

"If the President still feels the diary cannot be turned over to Congress, then I suggest that he examine it himself in this matter," Brewster said. "Then he could give us a report."

The Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee investigating the Amerasia secret documents episode reportedly has received testimony that Forrestal, this country's first defense secretary, probably advised delaying the arrests in the controversial case.

The case involved discovery of hundreds of confidential government papers in the New York office of the now-defunct magazine Amerasia, and elsewhere.

Kept in Secret

Forrestal's diary has been locked up at the White House since his death last year in a plane from an upper floor of a naval hospital near Washington. Mr. Truman in the past has turned aside all requests from Congress for a look at the diary, which reportedly deals with many top defense secrets.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) demanded yesterday that the sealed book be subpoenaed by the Senate Inquiry Committee.

He said that if Forrestal did intervene in the Amerasia case, he must have felt that Soviet espionage was involved, and that more time was needed to develop the case. Forrestal was secretary of the navy when the case broke in 1945.

Congress has had little success in subpoenaing documents in custody of the executive branch of the government.

May Clear Forrestal

Brewster suggested that a better tack would be for the inquiry committee to ask Mr. Truman to authorize the diary himself for any indication of whether Forrestal suggested a delay.

"If the President found such an indication, he could make that information public," Brewster told reporters. "If he did not, he could say so."

"Such a course should be taken to eliminate any implication reflecting on Forrestal, who can't speak for himself on this matter," a federal grand jury in New York also is looking into the Amerasia case. Among yesterday's witnesses was Robert Morris, assistant counsel to the Senate committee.

Truman in Old Role

St. Louis, June 10 (AP)—President Truman slipped easily into his old role of "Captain Harry" of Battery D today to frolic with his World War I comrades, even as he prepared to unleash another blast at Soviet aid to Germany.

He demonstrated the change of pace for which he is famous as he brought a week-end visit to his native Missouri toward a close by sampling everything the annual reunion of the 35th Division had to offer.

Soviet Zone Gets Potatoes From U.S.

50,000 Tons of Surplus Spuds Are Sold at Cent a Pound

Frankfurt, Germany, June 10 (AP)—East Germany was caught holding the bag today—and the bag was filled with American potatoes.

Two weeks ago east German Communist authorities complained in loud and aggrieved tones that the United States was scattering potato bugs from airplanes to destroy the east German potato crop. American officials just shook their heads in amazement.

Today it came out that east Germany has concluded a secret deal for the purchase of 50,000 tons of surplus American potatoes for a million dollars. That's a good price. A penny a pound. Housewives in New York pay between five and six cents a pound.

This seemed to back up an American theory propounded after the potato bug story started—that east Germany is facing a severe crop shortage in what once was Germany's lushest farm country and is trying to cover up.

The potato purchase appeared to be a delicate matter with the east German trade ministry in Berlin. They would not deny that the deal had been made, but there was no one around there who would say he knew anything about it. But Arthur Stroh, trade expert in the American High Commissioner's Berlin office, announced that it had been made and that delivery already has begun.

Hamburg port officials said two ships, the Kastor of Greek registry and the Barnwood of Norwegian registry, unloaded 15,000 tons of potatoes in the first ship.

First Polio Case Is Reported Here

Ulster county's first case of polio for the 1950 season was reported to the county health department today.

The health department revealed that a boy, five years old, has been diagnosed as having polio. The case was described as "not acute," and the boy was scheduled to return to his home today from a local hospital.

First symptoms appeared May 31, but the case was not definitely diagnosed as polio until today, the health department said.

Negro Leaves Jail With Forgiveness For Girl Accuser

Last of Scottsboro Boys Bound for Hospital Job in Albany With Family

Montgomery, Ala., June 10 (AP)—The last of the "Scottsboro boys" to leave prison took his wife and child and headed away from the south today.

Mild-mannered Andy Wright was one of nine Negroes accused of raping two white women on a freight train in 1931. Their trial at Scottsboro was a sensation of the 30's.

The tall, 38-year-old Negro left prison yesterday with $13.45 "go free" money in his pocket, and forgiveness in his heart. He said he was going to Albany, N. Y., to take a job as a hospital porter.

"I've got no hard feelings toward anyone," he told newspapermen who gave him a ride to the railroad station.

"I'm not mad because the white girl lied about me. If she's still living, I feel sorry for her because I don't guess she sleeps much at night."

The Negro steadfastly insisted on his innocence during a six-year court battle. He was sentenced to 99 years in prison.

Wright said Dr. Allan Knight, chairman of the Boston University School of Theology had sent him additional money to help pay his travel expense to New York.

He said he would like to go to his home at Chattanooga, Tenn., to see his seriously ill mother, but probably would meet his wife and child in Atlanta and go to New York.

Wright and eight other Negroes were arrested at Paint Rock, Ala., March 25, 1931. They were charged with the rape of Mrs. Victoria Price and Ruby Bates.

The Bates girl repudiated her testimony that she had been raped. The rape story was a "frame-up," she said. Eight of the nine were convicted and sentenced to death at the first trial, but the verdict was reversed.

Good Humor Strike

Newark, N. J., June 10 (AP)—Some 600 salesmen of the Good Humor Ice Cream Co. were on strike today in New Jersey, and parts of New York and Connecticut, a union spokesman said.

Lawrence McGinley, president of Local 680, Milk Drivers and Dairy Employees, an affiliate of the A.F.L. Teamsters Union, said the men want their commission increased from 24 to 30 per cent and want the company to pay for the gasoline used in the trucks.

Mrs. Vandenberg Dies

Washington, June 10 (AP)—Hazel Whitaker Vandenberg, wife of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, died early today. Mrs. Vandenberg, 67, had had spells of serious illness since she underwent two major operations in 1947. Despite this and her many duties as a senator's wife, she continued active until recently in a varied career of her own.

Stichman, Moses Wrangle on Plan For Chinese Homes

Rift Means Loss of Time as Two Battle Over Architecture of Project

New York, June 10 (AP)—Pagodas in Manhattan? Chinese landscaping along the Bowery? "Yes," insists City Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichman, strong plunger for a modernized Chinatown.

"No," thunders Robert Moses, the city's construction coordinator and nationally famed park and highway designer.

In addition to saying no, Moses also got off a couple of puns. He said Stichman was taking Chinatown for a "hickshaw ride" and called the whole project a "slip of the tongue."

Anyway, Stichman says he is going ahead with his plans and has from 10 to 15 million dollars in state money available to get going. If the city consents.

Won't Cost More

He is dead serious about the pagoda style and says it will retain the traditions of the colorful old area around Mott and Pell streets. It won't cost any more, either, he says.

Stichman, who called Moses an "obstructor," has backing from Chinese business leaders and from Paul Rutherford, commander of the New York county American Legion.

He said Mayor William O'Dwyer and other city officials also showed interest in the project, pagoda-style and all.

In the meantime, Stichman says he won't write any more letters to Moses on the matter. It's useless, he says.

No Strike Imminent

New York, June 10 (AP)—Contract negotiations between the New York Telephone Co. and the Traffic Employees Union (Ind.) broke off last night two hours before the contract expired at midnight. The union represents about 18,000 operators in the New York metropolitan area. The contract was due to expire April 2, but was extended twice for more talks.

A company spokesman said he was confident there would be no strike or interruption of service, despite the breakdown.

G.O.P. Convention

New Haven, Conn., June 10 (AP)—Connecticut Republicans assemble here next Wednesday for a state convention threatening a bitter five-man race for the gubernatorial nomination and a challenge to the party leadership.

Fish Is Orange's Choice for Senate

Goshen, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—Former Rep. Hamilton Fish is the Orange County Republican Committee's choice as candidate for the U. S. Senate next fall.

The committee yesterday gave 120 votes to Fish and 66 to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who didn't even know his name was considered at the G.O.P. group's annual meeting.

However, the 16 county delegates to the state Republican convention at Saratoga next September will not be instructed to vote for Fish as nominee.

Fish has not announced that he will seek the senatorial nomination but he has been making frequent speeches throughout the state for the past 18 months. Fish was defeated as representative in 1944. Orange county is Fish's home hick.

In 1948 he sought the Republican nomination again but he was defeated in the primary by the present representative Mrs. Katherine St. George.

Call for Congress Probe of Explosion

Jersey Legislators Asked to Fix Blame for 31 South Amboy Deaths

Perth Amboy, N. J., June 10—New Jersey representatives in Congress were asked by the City Commission yesterday to work for a congressional inquiry to fix responsibility for the blast which killed 31 persons in neighboring South Amboy.

A similar resolution was adopted Thursday night in South Amboy where the explosion of four munition barges May 19 took the toll of life, injured hundreds and caused widespread property damage.

Both municipalities asked the federal government to determine the role of the Coast Guard in the disaster before accepting as official any findings of the Coast Guard Board of Inquiry now under way in New York.

The Coast Guard was accused in the resolutions of having issued authority for the munitions shipment from South Amboy (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

Gold Trial Slated In Brooklyn Court

Doubtful How He'll Plead to 11-Count Conspiracy Indictment

New York, June 10 (AP)—Harry Gold, indicted yesterday on charges of relaying atom secrets to the Soviet Union, will be returned to Brooklyn if he elects to stand trial.

Whether he will plead innocent or guilty to the 11-count conspiracy indictment is still in doubt.

When arrested at his home in Philadelphia May 23, Gold told a federal judge he would plead guilty to handing over wartime atomic bomb data to the Soviets—but insisted he was innocent of any intention to harm the United States.

Two other men also were indicted with the 39-year-old biochemist. They were identified only as John Doe, alias "John," and Richard Roe, alias "Sam."

The federal grand jury in Brooklyn which handed up the indictments, said the true names of the latter pair were unknown to it, however, U. S. Attorney J. Vincent Keogh of the eastern district, said the first names given were correct. The two persons still are at large.

Gold told the F.B.I. and Federal Judge James E. McGranery that he acted as the link between the convicted German-British spy, Dr. Klaus Fuchs, and the Soviet spy organization.

Fuchs, who was working at the Los Alamos atomic bomb project at the time, now is serving a 15-year sentence in England. He told the F.B.I. of Gold's existence and positively identified him from (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

President Says Nation Can't Lose Interest in Healthy World Economy

More Tax Burdens

Bipartisan Outlook Is Spending to Drag on Under New Name

Washington, June 10 (AP)—President Truman's indication that the need for aid to western Europe went on with the Marshall Plan in 1952 stirred bipartisan criticism in Congress today.

While the President's assertion in a Columbia, Mo., address that this country can't close out its vital national interest, in a healthy world economy, found acceptance among many lawmakers, they didn't agree among themselves how to maintain it.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the G.O.P. floor leader, blasted at Mr. Truman's remarks as an indication that the administration intends to come up with a new European recovery program by another name.

"Paul Hoffman has said there are absolutely no plans to continue the economic cooperation administration beyond 1952 and now the President comes along and contradicts him," Wherry told a reporter.

"I'm convinced we are never going to get those European countries off the American taxpayer's back as long as this administration is in power."

George Opposed

Senator George (D-Ga.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a separate interview that he, for one, is going to insist that E.C.A. close up shop in 1952.

"I think we would be doing western Europe a disservice to encourage the hope there that this country can continue Marshall Plan aid," George said.

"It will be time enough when we know the circumstances and the conditions to determine whether we will have to give them additional aid."

Agrees With Hoover

George agreed with the President, however, that the United States can't pull out and let the rest of the anti-Communist world shift for itself.

Senator Maybank (D-S.C.), who has advocated cuts in E.C.A. spending for the year beginning July 1, said he thinks the program ought to be brought to a close on schedule.

He added that perhaps the President's point four program of encouraging investments abroad can be revised by Congress so that it will offer some help in taking up the slack.

High Military Cost

Washington, June 10 (AP)—By dovetailing its military planning with that of western Europe, the United States is more likely to increase its own defense spending for several years.

This is the view of U. S. defense officials who are working to translate the concept of a western pool of defense resources into fighting units equipped with atomic weapons.

United States military spending may run higher, they say, because (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

Yonkers Times Wins Court Order Restoring Phone Lines

Yonkers, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—The Yonkers Daily Times won a court order last night directing immediate restoration of its telephone service.

The order came too late, however, to aid publication of today's edition. The newspaper's 12 trunk lines were still dead at early morning.

The service was cut off Thursday by orders of Public Safety Commissioner Patrick F. O'Hara, who claimed the telephones were used to relay racing information.

The Times, which published without interruption called O'Hara's action "Russian-like." In an editorial it added:

"If a business can be hampered, its activities curtailed at the nod of an official, it's time for an uprising, led by the American press, of which we are proud to be a part."

The Times said the stoppage came without warning.

The court order, signed by Supreme Court Justice Benjamin Rubin of the Bronx, directed the New York Telephone Co. to restore the service at once on a temporary basis. It also ordered the company into court Monday to show cause why the restoration should not be permanent. The hearing will be held in nearby White Plains.

The delay in reconnecting the Times' phones was believed due to the difficulty in reaching all necessary parties with the court orders.

O'Hara said police told him the phones were used in aiding and abetting gambling. He said he acted only after conferring with two Westchester county officials, District Attorney George Farrell and Sheriff Fred Rusca and getting their approval.

The 15-year-old newspaper was bought five years ago by Ralph R. Martinelli, who died of a heart attack in Miami, Fla., a few weeks ago.

The present managing director, Mrs. Rose Martinelli, appeared voluntarily in April before a Senate subcommittee investigating interstate crime and said the Times carried only the same racing news as other papers. Under questioning, she added that the Times had 50 or 60 subscribers who paid $20 a week for getting race results by phone.

O'Hara said his telephone order was not directed against the newspaper itself but only against the use he claimed was made of the telephone lines.

Alliance Church Members Approve Building Program

The congregation of the Alliance Gospel Church of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, corner of Pine and Franklin streets, unanimously approved the commencement of the second phase of its building program to begin sometime in July. Plans have been drawn and contracts will be let out in July for the moving of the present church building and the construction of a modern new basement to provide Sunday school facilities for the growing Sunday school.

The Rev. Virgil R. Brisco, pastor, stated today that when the basement is completed it will offer modern and up-to-date rooms for the Sunday school. Full equipment with best of heating, lighting and ventilation will be provided. New flange-graph boards, blackboards and equipment for visual aid teaching also will be installed and new furniture will be purchased.

The present church building will be moved from its present location to another part of the lot to a site on the new foundation and basement. The present location of the church building will then be cleared for a future building site of a new church as the third phase of the building program.

Beginning Sunday, June 11, the church will hold its first "Home Convention" at which time pledges and cash offerings will be taken to provide for the enlargement program of the church. The convention continues through June 17 every night except Saturday at 7:45 p. m. Dr. W. H. McWhinnie, noted Scotch Bible teacher and former instructor of the London Bible Institute, London, England, will be the speaker each night of the convention.

Ordination of New Lutheran Minister Scheduled Sunday

A special service will be held at Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Livingston street, Sunday at 4 p. m. The candidate of theology, Clarence Theodore Kuehn, will be ordained into the holy ministry and commissioned for work in Guatemala. Mr. Kuehn recently was graduated from Concordia Seminary in St. Louis.

He is the son of the late Rev. Theodore Kuehn who had been pastor in Rome, and the grandson of the late Rev. Christian Kuehn of Baltimore. Mr. Kuehn had spent a year as a vicar in Guatemala. He will be married here to Miss Kathleen Schleede Sunday afternoon, June 23, and will sail with his bride from New York August 4 for his new field of activity.

In the service Sunday afternoon the wife of the candidate, the Rev. Louis J. Henze, of New York, executive secretary of the Atlantic District of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod will preach the sermon. The Rev. Ernest L. Witte, the pastor of the local church, will perform the rite of ordination and commissioning under the authority of the Board for Missions in North and South America of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod. The Rev. William E. Reiser of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Albany, will serve as the liturgist. The organist will be Waldemar D. Bloch.

The program follows: Processional, Triumphal March, Handel; hymn, Come Thou Almighty King; the Liturgy; children's choir, Thou Wilt Keep in Peace, Malin; hymn, God of the Prophets; Bless; the sermon theme, "The Faithful, God Back of Every Missionary," organ offertory, He Shall Feed His Flock, Handel; hymn, Thee Will I Love; My Strength; the rite of ordination and commissioning; the recessional, Recessional in D, Kreckel.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

With Clever Ruffing Slam Try Succeeds

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please settle our dispute," pleads a Detroit correspondent. "We want to know if this hand was bid properly. Also, please discuss the way the hand was played."

"West opened the king of hearts and South won with the ace. South immediately led the jack of diamonds and let it ride for a finesse. That was the end of the slam. East took the king of diamonds and led a heart, and South was set."

"Would an expert play the hand this way? If not, how would the hand be played and why?" The bidding was excellent, and the final contract was quite a good one. However, the play was not of the best. An expert would make the slam contract by playing it differently.

An expert allows the king of hearts to hold the first trick. He wins the second trick (assuming a heart continuation) with the ace of hearts. He then lays down the king of spades.

Having found out that the trumps are not massed against him, South knows that he can afford to ruff out the diamonds. He therefore immediately leads the jack of diamonds to dummy's ace and returns a low diamond. This he ruffs with the two of spades. South continues by leading the three of spades to dummy's ace and ruffing another diamond in his own hand. Now he ruffs the heart with dummy's last trump, and returns by ruffing still another diamond. This drops East's king.

At this point, South is in position to draw West's last trump. The top clubs and dummy's queen of diamonds take the last three tricks.

The reason for choosing this line of play is that it is far more likely to succeed. South has only an even chance to win the finesse in diamonds. Obviously, it is better to adopt a line of play that makes you a 3 to 1 favorite than to stake everything on an even chance.

THE BENNINGTON

HOME OF THE WEEK: "The Bennington." Even with the wing at the left, this house can be placed to advantage on a lot with a 50-foot frontage.

'Dressed Up' Cottage Retains Its Simplicity

Roof Overhang Gives Pleasing Shadowy Effect in Front

A cottage design can be "dressed up" with unusual details and still retain the charm of simplicity. A striking example of this is the treatment of "The Bennington," which is introduced today by the Home of the Week Plan Service.

The picture of this house shows the pleasing shadowy effect created by a roof overhang across the front. Simple trellises at either end of the main house support the overhang, give an added decorative detail to the exterior, and provide a background for climbing vines or rambling roses in summer.

Sited to 50-Foot Lot

The body of the house measures 28x28 feet and has a cubage of 15,500 feet. The wing adds an additional 10½ feet to the length, but even with the wing the house could be placed on a 50-foot lot. A location facing from northeast to northwest is preferred.

White painted clapboards are used on the exterior, with a green fire-resistant roof which harmonizes with the green shutters. The appearance of the wing will depend on the use the owners plan to make of it. In the example pictured, generous wall space was given over to windows, to make the room into a sun parlor.

The front door opens into a small hall which has an archway leading into the living room. A door facing the arch closes on a front bedroom. The stairs to the second floor are directly opposite the front door.

Living Room Well Lighted
The living room, well lighted by three windows, has wide wall spaces making arrangement of large furniture pieces easy.

A French door opens from the room, in one corner, to the sun-dining room. Across the room from this is another door opening on a central hall which connects with all other rooms on the floor. The cellar stairs are reached from this hall. A large storage closet is included in the hall plan.

The kitchen, with an L-shaped working counter with sink filling one entire wall, has refrigerator and stove so placed as to save steps for the housewife.

One section of floor space is left open for a breakfast nook. A glazed door leads from the kitchen to the sunroom. A broom closet is adjacent to this door.

The sun-dining room has doors opening to both front and rear yards. This room measures 12x10½ feet.

Each of the first-floor bedrooms has windows on two exposures and a generous sized clothes closet.

Eaves Provide Storage
The second floor bedrooms are at either side of a hall, with a lavette between them. Each bedroom makes good use of eaves space for storage. The larger room has a door opening in a storage chamber under the front roof slope. Two large clothes closets flanking a window on the rear of the house, provides additional storage space and this is supplemented by a tier of drawers built under the front eaves. The other bedroom also has similar drawer space, and one large closet.

The cellar extends only under the main house. The heating plant will be placed under the living room and laundry facilities under the kitchen. This will leave the area under the first floor bedrooms free for use as a large recreation room, if desired.

Full insulation of the roof and sidewalls is recommended and ventilating louvers should be installed in gable ends.

Complete plans and specifications for "The Bennington" and other houses in this series are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, N. Y., and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a 3-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Painting Foundation
When the foundation of a house is constructed of cement blocks it is well to have the blocks painted to match the upper part of the house. This will not only keep out moisture, but will make the house seem larger. It also helps to "bring the house down to earth." A dark colored foundation below a light-colored upper section makes the house look as if it were sitting up in the air too high.

Laundry Drying Yard
Plan the laundry drying yard where it will have direct sun and unobstructed breeze. Sometimes the paved area in front of a garage, if large enough to back and turn cars doubles for a drying yard. Landscaping can screen it from street view. Near the kitchen door and with full view from the kitchen should be the location for the children play yard, sandbox pen, swings and other juvenile equipment.

Grubs in Old Homes
Sometimes, in old houses, one may hear a faint ticking sound which seems to come from the woodwork. The noise is produced by the grubs of small beetles, which have been in the timber since the house was built.

Trend to Larger Windows Is Noted

Large window areas in homes are now the rule rather than the exception. The modern trend is to larger and more window openings. Like so many other functional parts of a modern house, windows today have improved considerably in design and construction.

There was a time when architects and builders hesitated to use large window areas because of the great heat losses they caused. Today the trend is just the opposite, because double glass, weather-stripping and careful construction where the window frame and the wall join have largely eliminated windows as a source of excessive heat losses.

Sediment Will Cut Hot Water Supply

When your supply of hot water gradually becomes inadequate, the collection of sediment in the plumbing system is indicated. Invariably such deposits pile up in the lowest pipe sections, primarily in the cellar connection between the tank and the heater. To re-establish normal flow, the clogged pipe or pipes must be disconnected and flushed out. To avoid flooding the cellar as well as damage to the heating system the services of an experienced plumber are recommended. Plumbing repairs done other than by an expert may lead to future difficulties.

Waxing the Floor

If hardwood floors are cleaned too frequently and wax applied too freely, they soon become gummy, dingy and shabby. Complete finishing is then required. Dirt and wax work down into the cracks and, if not removed will penetrate the wood. When waxing wood floors only a light coat of water emulsion wax should be used and the surface should be wiped with a damp cloth weekly to prevent black streaks.

Electric Circuits

In wiring, the ideal arrangement is to have each room in the house served by two electric circuits so there will be no interruption of service should one become short-circuited.

THE OTHER AMERICANS

There is an ever-recurring question of what is to be done with the 400,000 Indians who for over a century have frequently been a thorn in the flesh of the federal government. The question is coming up again soon.

Fifteen western states are about to act together in seeking the allocation of local Indian problems to the state governments for solution. This Interstate Council believes that in order to be absorbed into the population, as are other races and nationalities, the Indians should be gotten off their reservations. This project would make necessary wider educational opportunities and suitable job possibilities, among other things. Many practical difficulties would be involved in the process of assimilation, and those in favor of it believe that they could be best coped with by the states themselves.

This belief seems reasonable. There is, however, no reason for undue optimism as to the results. While there are many Indians who have broken loose from the torpidity of reservation life and become successful on an equal basis with other Americans, they form a small minority. The paternalism and pauperism inherent in the reservation system and increased by the shifting inconsistencies of government policy in this direction have created problems which are bound to be slow and difficult of solution. They need keen attention.

IT DOES COST MORE

If you think that it costs more to live nowadays than formerly, you are not suffering from hallucinations. The Bureau of Labor Statistics has been surveying costs in 56 cities, finding that for every dollar spent in 1939, the same amount of food would now cost $1.95. For the country generally the figure is even higher, $2.15.

Back in 1913 the cost of living was a political issue, which helped in the 1912 presidential race to drive the Republicans from office. Yet the 1939 dollar bag of groceries cost only 70 cents in 1913.

With all this growing cost, Americans on the whole have not suffered too much. There is a great deal of money available for spending, and wages and farmers' prices are high. Certain classes, such as pensioners and owners of annuities, are hard pressed by increasing expenses but by and large there is prosperity today.

Obviously this is part of inflation. The American dollar has not held its own, in terms of the goods it will buy, over the years. That is why it takes more money to buy essentials like food, and why more money is handed out in wages.

Obtaining the maximum from the minimum is often upheld as a worthy goal, but if you expect to get it you have to give it.

When it comes to interior decorators we'll take those who shine when working over the stove at supper time.

Cowboy shoes, cowboy hats, cowboy boots—no wonder the up-and-at-'em youngsters have to make a horse out of daddy now and then.

It may seem easy to let John do it, but often he doesn't.

CITIES OF THE FUTURE

That the discomforts and complications of modern large city life more than cancel out its cultural and other advantages is the opinion of Lewis Mumford, writer and town-planning expert. He outlined the ideal community of the future in a speech before the American Institute of Architecture in Washington recently.

Mumford advocates cities of 20,000 to 50,000, carefully planned and built with open country spaces between and around them. Air travel and surface transportation would both be simpler in such a set-up. Such cities would make their own civic and cultural plans with the idea of producing pleasant and profitable community living. Inter-city projects should also be carried out, in cases where joint effort would be more effective. To today's dwellers in large metropolitan

THE MONOLITHIC PARTY

Wherever, in modern times, the one-party system has appeared, the liberties of the people have disappeared. First in Soviet Russia, then in Germany, Italy, Spain and in many of the other countries, the single party became a tyrant and a despot. Too soon for the good of any people, the party leads—Lenin or Stalin in Russia, Mussolini in Italy, Hitler in Germany, Franco in Spain, Chiang Kai-shek in China—ruled by his own will because his associates deteriorated into sycophants, and those who opposed the control of an entire people by a single will were either driven from public life or were reduced to the activities of a revolutionist. Government by the free choice of the people can only exist when changes occur in the top personnel of government by the will of the people.

In the Anglo-Saxon countries, the two-party system has flourished as the particular characteristic and tradition of the races of man who composed them. The two-party system presupposed that the party in power will function under the handicap of a constant and scrutinizing opposition. In fact, the success of the system is dependent upon the opposition more than upon the party in power. For it is the opposition that keeps the party in power within the bounds of a decent regard for the opinions of mankind.

The Democrats were in power in the federal government from 1913 to 1921, a period of eight years. From 1921 to 1933, the Republicans were in power, a period of 12 years. From 1933 to 1950, the Democrats have been in power, a period of 17 years. During the 12 Republican years, there were three Presidents, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover. During the 17 Democratic years, there have only been two Presidents, Roosevelt and Truman.

From the very inception of the Roosevelt administration, an effort was made to reduce political parties to instruments of the White House. The Democratic Party became several factions of the New Deal, which also included Progressive Republicans such as Harold Ickes and Henry Wallace and ran the gamut of leftism from the mild liberalism of A. A. Berle, Jr., and David Dubinsky to the communism of Earl Browder. In time, Roosevelt included in his administration many Republicans, such as Henry Stimson, Frank Knox, Judge Robert Patterson and others.

Since Harry Truman has become President, he has made strong bids to weaken the Republican Party by seducing its leaders whenever possible. He has split his own party into Dixiecrats, Northern Democrats and recent Southern Democrats, who, while not Dixiecrats, fear the effects of Truman's policies upon the country.

What has happened is that candidates run for office on the party label which suits them best and then vote in Congress as suits them best without regard to party. In a word, on both the Republican and Democratic sides, the parties are split in all directions and the President, with keen political opportunism, widens the breach by finding ways to encourage those who, no matter of which party, serve his purposes.

It was known that when Senator Vandenberg did so brilliantly in 1948, it was because the Democrats of Michigan did not put up a real fight. Senator Wayne Morse, who has voted with his party only 23 per cent in 1949 on party issues, and for Truman the rest of the way, must by his votes be regarded as a Truman Fair Dealer, although he runs on the Republican Party ticket.

Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine has voted with her party 51 per cent on "44 party-line" votes in the Senate last year. I am quoting a tabulation compiled by Laurence Burd of the Washington Times-Herald. "Snow White and Her Six Dwarfs," who claim an independence of attitude, get more publicity and even acclaim than senators who follow a program of thought and action as part of the organized life of this country.

Independence should have discouraged Senator Margaret Chase Smith, who, from accepting a cushy appointment on U.N.E.S.C.O. to the hands of Dean Acheson whom she so pointedly defended. Such independence moves rapidly from confusion to chaos—a condition too generally reflected in all branches of government. In a word, there is no party discipline, no party loyalty, no program. Out of such confusion can arise a single party control. That is a menace to free institutions.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

ANOTHER TREATMENT OF PINWORMS

Physicians report that notwithstanding our advanced knowledge of sanitation there are still a great many cases of pinworms throughout the United States and Canada.

I have written before of the regular treatment of pinworm in children's hospitals, which consists of putting two ounces of quassia chips in a quart of water, boiling it down to one pint, and using this pint of infusion for an enema. This is done every morning for 6 to 8 days. These enemas in the great majority of cases remove all pinworms and eggs. Pinworms look like tiny pieces of white thread in the stools.

I have also written about the use of gentian violet tablets which are effective in most cases. Still another effective drug is phenothiazine. As some children have difficulty in swallowing gentian violet tablets, which produce nausea and vomiting, and as phenothiazine needs to be used with caution, Drs. M. J. Miller and L. P. E. Choquet, Macdonald College, Montreal, Canada, in the Canadian Medical Association Journal, report the results obtained by the use of a new drug under the trade names of Oxylan and Diphenan.

A total of 37 children and 3 adults all proved positive for pinworm infection. There were two groups of patients, group A consisting of two families, one with father and mother and two children, and the other with father and one child; group B consisted of 34 children, ages 7 to 11, all of whom were inmates of an orphanage in which over 90 per cent of the children were infected with pinworms.

In group A, 3 adults and 7 children, in addition to the drug Oxylan and Diphenan, scrupulous personal and household hygiene was practiced including changing and washing all bed and personal linen every day. In group B, the drug only was used and no special hygiene methods used. While the hygienic methods appeared to help to some extent, and the tablets were swallowed easily by even the smallest children, nevertheless Drs. Miller and Choquet do not consider this drug to be ideal treatment for pinworms. However, because the drug is harmless, causes no serious reactions, and is successful in killing the pinworms and removing the eggs in some cases, it is worth trying where other drugs have failed.

centers, who struggle daily with housing and transportation problems, and who must travel many miles on week-ends for a breath of fresh, country air, this idea will have a strong appeal. Such regional planning presupposes the resettlement of industry and business on a colossal scale. Such communities, if and when set up, will co-exist with today's large cities for generations to come.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — The Senate's genial chairman, the Rev. Frederick Brown Harris and Vice President Alben Barkley were exchanging domestic intelligence in the Senate cloakroom.

"My wife's away in St. Louis for two weeks," reported Barkley.

"I'm in the same boat," said the chairman. "My wife's out of town, too."

"Well, let's do something about it," suggested the Veep with a wink. "They'll never know the difference. How about a little pinocchio or a night baseball game at Griffith Stadium?"

Brass Bonnets

The Italian embassy celebrated the anniversary of the founding of the Italian republic last week by bestowing medals on several people around the White House.

Among them General Harry Vaughan, General Louis Renfro, and General Wallace Graham, the President's personal physician.

The medals were supposed to be for "contributing to the development of friendly relations between Italy and the United States."

However, here is what these three recipients did to improve "friendly relations" between the United States and Italy:

General Renfro — When four American Legionnaires patriotically gave their time and money to visit Italy to present the tide of toys to Italian children, General Renfro refused their passage on an air force plane. The secretary of air and the top generals of the air force ok'd the trip; but General Renfro said no. Apparently the Italian embassy thought this merited a medal.

General Graham — At the height of European starvation, when the U.S.A. was buying food to send to the people of Italy, General Graham used his inside knowledge as a white House aide to speculate in the food which we were sending to the Italian government.

General Vaughan — In 1946 when the Italian people were starving and the American people were holding themselves down to one or two slices of bread daily, General Vaughan phoned the Agriculture Department demanding that American whiskey distillers get a bigger gain quota at the expense of the Italian and European people.

When the Agriculture Department refused to yield, General Vaughan got angry and claimed that he was an official spokesman for the Italian and European people.

Vaughan also pulled various other deals which the Italian government apparently considered meritorious. He favored race track construction at the expense of veterans' homes. He pulled wires for his friend John Maragon when Maragon was charged with smuggling. He also behaved so badly in regard to other matters that he won an official spanking from a Senate investigating committee.

Therefore, on the anniversary of the founding of the Italian Republic, General Vaughan was awarded the star of solidarity, as a reward for promoting friendly relations between the United States and Italy.

Not an increasing number of congressmen are concluding that George Washington was right when he banned all foreign medals to American officials. Since General Vaughan got his famed medal from Argentina, that country has received a $125,000,000 export-import bank credit.

Merry-Go-Round

Out in Oregon, where distances are long and the population sparse, the live-wire community of Medford recently staged a campaign to buy a "mercy airplane" or flying ambulance. The pilots, co-pilots, nurses, attendants serve without pay, and leave their jobs to fly the ill from various isolated areas into larger cities. Real servants of brotherhood!

Majority Leader Scott Lucas has a tough time riding herd on the Senate. Some of his existence is absenteeism—which applies chiefly to younger Democrats. They are constantly playing hooky. Heard in the Commerce Department press room: "They're installing no-left-turn signs at the White House. Does that apply to Truman?"

Capitol correspondents have decided that the term "pork barrel" doesn't do justice to the big one-potato at the domestic spending. They call it the "silo" bill. Incidentally, the one-potato idea will be junked by the next Congress—too unwieldy.

While sifting through the 1,700 "secret documents" in the Amerasia case, Senate investigators came across one paper labeled: "Jumbo secret! Destroy before reading!"

Ex-secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau is now out of the hospital—a heart attack resulting from too much pressure during the war years.

The University of Colorado alumnus model for outstanding public service, awarded posthumously last year to Supreme Court Justice Wiley Rutledge, this year is being presented to Lee Johnson of the National Public Housing Conference for his untiring campaign for legislation to lick the housing shortage.

Big Campaign Dough

It was only a few years ago that the U. S. Senate refused to seat Vane of Pennsylvania, Smith of Illinois and Newberry of Michigan because they spent large amounts of money in their primary or election campaigns.

Smith of Illinois was not seated for spending $100,000. But now, in the same state, the Republican Citizens Finance Committee, headed by oil man Kent S. Clow, and organized largely to defeat Senator Scott Lucas, brazenly announced that it was going to raise $700,000 for the November campaign.

This caused G.O.P. Congressman Charles Vursell of Salem, Ill., to remark that the $700,000 would be a good investment if it would prevent Lucas from returning to the Senate.

The citizens committee's $700,000 will be on top of the campaign chest raised by the Republican State Committee and the Republican National Committee, so that the Illinois election should really be rolling in dough.

Meanwhile, lethargic Senator Guy Gillette of Iowa has been appointed chairman of a committee to investigate campaign expenditures. Gillette clamored for Senate investigators in Iowa when he was the object of the Roosevelt purge in 1938, but now he isn't the eager-beaver he used to be.

However, the country generally is getting fed up with the tremendous amounts of money spent on elections. People are getting the impression that the man with the dough can buy his way into Congress—not a healthy impression to prevail in a democracy.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, June 10 (AP) — The cost of living creeps higher again. Food price indexes are the highest in 17 months. Little relief from increasing meat prices is held out before fall.

Prices of basic commodities—the raw materials out of which the cost of living is fabricated—are in general up again to the level they held in January, 1949. Their average is pushed upwards chiefly by the spurring costs of metals, rubber and wool. Easing prices in a few commodities get lost in that shuffle.

At the retail level, you will be paying more for direct work clothes, carpets, top cuts of meat. It will cost you more to build a home. There's talk of further hikes in the price of gasoline.

Opinions differ as to what's in store for the fall. One school holds that prices are more likely than not to continue going up. But they think the advance will be slow because higher prices will draw more goods from America's expanding industrial plant, and the resulting competition will curb any runaway in prices.

The other school believes that the price climb is topping out now—that the spurt in metals, spectacular as it is, may prove to be the last stage in the present creeping inflation. They argue that in the past, most of the commodities were ripe for a drop. Meantime, the pinch is on the pocketbook.

Index Hits 171.73

The Associated Press index of wholesale commodity prices hit 171.73 Thursday, highest since January, 1949. It has been climbing almost steadily since March 30, when it touched this year's low of 159.30.

The food component of that index is also at the highest peak of the year, and highest since last December.

Farm prices, the Agriculture Department reports today, are at their highest since last September—but still 19 per cent below the record set in January, 1948. The department says that prices jumped two per cent in May and it predicts that prices of most classes of meat animals will go even higher this summer. Bad growing weather has bolstered grain quotations.

The wholesale food price index of Dun & Bradstreet is rising steadily since the middle of April, and now highest since January, 1949. It is nearly five per cent higher than two months ago. However, it is still well below its all-time high, set in July 1948.

What's sending prices up? In a few cases, it's a matter of tight supply. That was the reason given for the run-up in the price of coffee, cocoa, lamb, and wool.

In other cases, the demand is high—frequently much higher than expected only a few months ago. That's the reason given for the jump in the price of rubber, steel scrap, copper, zinc and gasoline.

The Other Element

And in most all cases, there's other element in inflation at work—more people have more money and want more of the best grades of meat, best grades of wool fabrics. They'll pay more to get what they want.

Wide distribution of moderately high incomes across the nation has given the impetus for the boom in home building, the record sale of automobiles and of home appliances that sent manufacturers scurrying into the market to bid up raw materials.

This high demand and temporarily tight supply spreads through the price structure, sending the cost of living up for every one, no matter how much he needs, nor how stagnant his pay check.

For example, makers of work clothes say they will have to raise prices soon, because producers of denim have just hiked prices and quotations on chambray and drills may go up, too.

Carpet prices will go up this month—the third time this year. Carpet makers point to Argentina, where they get most of their carpet wools. The Argentine wool price has more than tripled since 1947. And all these new hikes around the country are markets for many carpets.

Any relief in sight? Well, Fred Lazman, president of a large chain of Federated Department Stores, Inc., says today that retail prices should be fairly stable this fall, but if prices change it will be on the upside. However, he adds: "Any sharp increase in price would be greeted with a peak production from the large U. S. manufacturing capacity, and competition would quickly restore the price level."

And Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors, says that the five-year labor contract boosting wages each year need not raise the price on your car. He thinks output per man hour will rise at least as fast as hourly wages, thereby holding costs and prices in check. Higher productivity could brake the price spiral in other lines, too.

But meanwhile, the prosperity boom the nation is enjoying will likely be paid for by further hikes in the cost of living this summer, and maybe this fall.

MODENA NEWS

Modena, June 9.—The Public Health Nursing Committee of the Town of Plattkill met Monday night at the home of Mrs. Oscar Mount in Clintondale. Pending business topics were discussed and completed at this time. Questions - Answers

Q—What is the "lost wax" process?

A—This process, which is credited to the Italian sculptor Cennini, is used for making castings of complicated objects. The design is made in a wax pattern, then a plaster mold is made around it.

To remove the pattern, the wax is melted, and thus "lost." Then molten metal is poured into the mold, to take the place of the wax, and after it hardens the plaster is chipped away.

Former Jurist Dies

Norwich, N. J., June 10 (AP)—Death has taken James P. Hill, former State Supreme Court Justice who presided in the Appellate Division's third department for 16 years. The 72-year-old jurist died last night at his home or being in a coma for three days. He had been critically ill since Memorial Day.

Which bird has the thickest coat of feathers on its breast?

A—The penguin. It needs plenty of feathers to keep warm down around the South Pole.

Fifty-seven per cent of all the livestock shipped to stockyards in the United States goes by truck.

'Wagon' Welcomes Dog Fanciers and Interior Decorator

An interior decorator and a couple who plan to operate a dog training school were among five families who have recently moved to Kingston and who were welcomed this week by the "Welcome Wagon" and its hostess, Mrs. Irma Herrington, who presented each family with a basket of gifts from her 10 merchant sponsors.

Mrs. Herrington gave the following account of her week's calls:

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Muller have moved from New York City and Long Island to 223 Downside street. Mr. Muller is an interior decorator and once owned the property in the mountains which later was bought by Helman's Mayonnaise Company. He used to come in this area to hunt and fish. Visiting Kingston recently he was impressed with the way our residential sections have grown and decided to make Kingston his home. He is now redecorating his house, and plans to set up an interior decorating business here.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Schmidt moved to 711 Chapel street from New York City, buying the property known as Hill-Manor. They are building dog kennels and plan to open a dog training school, and buy, sell and board dogs. They have a 21-year-old son.

Families who have moved here from nearby towns include:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rider and their nine-month-old baby, from Port Ewen to 43 Van Buren street.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson DuBois and their 22-month-old son, from West Hurley to 50 Murray street.

Howard Kelder and his sister, from Slighsburg to 422 Washington avenue.

St. John's Will Hold Annual Reunion of Choir Alumni Group

THE REV. WILLARD YODER

The St. John's Choir Alumni Association will hold its annual reunion Sunday afternoon and evening at the church on Albany avenue. The alumni will meet for a short business session and a supper in the parish house at 5:30 o'clock, to be served by the mothers of the choir.

Catskill Woman 101 Today, Uses No Glasses

Catskill, June 9 — She's 101 years old today and knits for the Red Cross without glasses.

Mrs. W. F. Tubbs of Summit avenue reads and sews, too, with the naked eye. And her memory is so keen that she readily recalls incidents that happened during her girlhood.

Friends love to call and chat with her, because she's an interesting conversationalist.

This member of the Golden Age Club of Albany resides with her son, W. C. Tubbs. Another son, Gordia Tubbs, lives in Gowanda.

Several members of the Golden Age Club, the youngest one of which is 90, called on her for her birthday.

Advices Graduates

Albany, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—Governor Dewey recommends that his elder son and fellow graduates choose something they like as careers.

The governor said that nowadays there are many people doing things they don't like to do and are unhappy and dissatisfied about it. He told the youths they probably would succeed if they had received from their education a capacity to think and reason and to understand human relationships, and were willing to work.

Symbol of Freedom

Albany, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—Governor Dewey said today the American flag stood for power in the defense of freedom—"our own and that of all other peoples who cherish their liberties." Proclaiming next Wednesday Flag Day in New York state, Dewey described the flag as "the symbol of our devotion to our freedoms and our unquenchable determination to preserve them at any cost."

"It has never been a symbol of power for conquest," he added.

Albany, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—Burton Cosman of Newburgh was installed today as a grand junior counselor of the United Commercial Traveler's State Council. He was elected yesterday at the 105th annual state convention.

Compliments

Some of the foreign delegations which was expected to attend the National Jamboree has been forced to cancel its plans and a troop is being assembled from several councils to fill the place in Section 1. Carl Thurn of Kingston will be one of the assistant scoutmasters in this composite troop and the following Rip Van Winkle scouts will form a patrol:

Joseph Hilton, Troop 34, Woodstock; Werner Pollack, Woodstock; William Berkowitz, Peter Cohn, John Boswell, Troop 34, Woodstock; Kyle Newcomb, Woodstock; Edward Myers of Woodstock. These scouts will combine with scouts from Dutchess County Council, General Herkimer Council, Otsego County Council and Port Orange Council to make up this troop. They will receive their pre-Jamboree training at Crumhorn Mountain Camp this week-end.

He Throws Quarters

Hazleton, Pa., June 10 (AP)—Quarters — $20 worth — showered out of a fourth-floor hotel room last night but passing pedestrians would have no part of the money.

They picked the coins up and took them to a police officer. The policeman went to the hotel room, money in hand, and there he found a happy man. The man of good spirits said he was Charles E. Watson, a metal moulding manufacturer from Flint, Mich., and formerly of Mt. Carmel, Pa. He was tossing quarters out of the window he explained because he was celebrating.

College Trustee

Geneva, N. Y., June 10 (AP)—Charles E. Love of Irvington, vice president in charge of sales for International Business Machines, was elected to the board of trustees of Hobart and William Smith Colleges yesterday for a five-year term.

Feetall Comments
The following commentaries are from the Adjuncts' Comment Sheets for the children from School 2, who played solos at Hudson, May 6:

Robert Gollnick, third grade, received a "2" rating and the comments, "an excellent beginning, now keep working hard and you will make an outstanding cellist." Robert received A for tone, and A plus in rhythm; an A for interpretation.

Christine Thiele, fourth grade violinist, a "2" rating and "very good prospects for you as a player; good musicianship." She received an A for interpretation.

David Brown, fifth grade clarinet player who played on a festival basis, received this note—"good stage presence, rhythm."

David Brown, fifth grade clarinet player who played on a festival basis, received this note—"good stage presence, rhythm."

Lois Brown, seventh grade violinist, a "2" rating with comments, "A in technique; tone and pitch are very firm; you have a good foundation for further advanced work."

Study Nature Work
As a part of the nature study work, fifth grade pupils at School 4 brought to school frogs, tadpoles, turtles and snails. Watching and caring for these pets has been an interesting and worthwhile project.

Cinderella Performance
The Junior American Citizenship Club at School 8, gave a performance of "Cinderella," June 7, to all the classes from kindergarten to the seventh grade.

Book Club
Grade 4 of School 3 has completed this year's Book-of-the-Month Club by purchasing the Golden Books of Worms. Members also have two bonus books, Nature Almanac by Thompson Burgess and Elephanta, the Encyclopedia Britannica Picture Story Book.

Takes School Meet
The annual grammar school meet was won by School 4 at the Stadium. The team of 15 boys was presented with a handsome trophy.

Letter To Alaska
Grade 4 of School 3, having enjoyed letters from the Navajos so much, decided to write the postmaster at Juneau, Alaska. Members asked him to give their letter to some boy or girl who can read and write English and would be willing to answer all the questions they want to know about the Alaskan Eskimos. In case the answer does not arrive before school closes, Stanley Beaver is giving his address and will keep it until fall. This is part of the Eskimo Unit.

Albany Trip
The two fourth grades of School 6, accompanied by their teachers, made a bus trip to Albany May 29. They visited the New York State Education Building, the capitol and the state office building. Children were especially interested in the Indian and animal exhibits of the museum and the view of the city from the tower of the state office building. The trip was made in connection with projects in Social Studies.

Have Weather Chart
The first grade children of School 3 have been keeping a weather chart for the past three months. Each morning they indicate on the chart, the temperature and the weather conditions for the day. On the blackboard a thermometer is drawn and the temperature is registered daily. The children can now read the thermometer and at the end of the week and month the number of fair and stormy days are counted.

OFFICE CAT

(Trade Mark Reg.)
By Junius

Attorney Stanley G. Hogg filed a suit recently in court at Dallas, Tex., in behalf of his client, Stanley Pigg.

Office: You can't stop here. Motorist: I can't stop here, either, maybe I shouldn't stop here, but you don't know this car as well as I do.

Hubby: Why isn't dinner ready? Wife: Oh, I've been down-town bargain hunting all afternoon, and I just couldn't get home in time. Hubby: Huh! Like all women—looking for something for nothing, I suppose? Wife: Yes indeed. Trying to get you a birthday present.

A sales manager had one of his salesmen on the carpet. The young salesman vented the call-down and becoming quite huffy, said—

Young Salesman—Don't talk to me that way, I take orders from no man! Sales Manager—Now we're getting somewhere. That's just what I'm raising hell about.

A large quantity of dynamite was found at the home of an alcohol gang leader. So that is what makes the stuff potent.

When we do the best we can, we never know what miracle is wrought in our own life, or in the life of some other individual.

A traveling salesman knocked at the farmhouse door.

Salesman—Now, Mr. Smith, you really should have an atlas. It is absolutely indispensable in a home where the children are going to school.

Farmer—Not by a darn sight. My grandfather walked to school and by gum the children can walk to school too.

George A. Trask is enrolled as a student at Georgia Tech University.

—Harold Brown, Damascus, Ark.

Adam (to Eve)—See here. Do you realize that the high cost of living is crippling me badly? You simply must be less extravagant in the matter of clothes.

Eve—All right, dear. I'll help you economize by turning over an old leaf.

A Scotchman woke up one morning to find that in the night his wife had passed away. He leaped from his bed and ran for—

Southpaw Ace Winds Up Career; Maroon Even Up

Four Straight Gives Locals 7-7 Record

Lefty Ted Schwamb, a nice looking kid with a potential million dollar pitching arm, finished his Kingston High School career yesterday by tossing an easy 10-3 victory over Middletown High in the 1950 finale for Coach Bill Burke's tossers.

Schwamb had a no-hitter through five innings and then suffered a temporary collapse in the sixth when the Middies bunched their five hits for a trio of runs. The route going job gave Coach Burke's fingers a record of four straight complete games, which was a first for the school. Schwamb, who fanned six yesterday, whipped Newburgh and Middletown. Jerry Bechtold stopped Beacon and Joe Pecora humbled Saugerties.

Balance Record
Kingston's late season surge with four wins enabled the Maroons to balance the seasonal ledger at seven wins and seven defeats. They were the real spoilers of the DUSO, whipping every club except Poughkeepsie at least once.

The Burkemen routed starter, Contos, in the second inning when six runs, scattered across the plate. The big blow was Bud Scheffel's double with bases loaded.

Three of the eight satellites by the Colonials were doubles stroked by Bob Lyons, Bud Scheffel and Joe Kozlowski. Jimmy Riehl and Kozlowski came up with two hits each.

Marcia, Middletown center-fielder, was credited with two of his team's five safeties.

Two League Starts Weekend Play; Jones Dairy Wins Third Game

Escalera Paces CBL Batsmen

Satch Escalera, hard hitting Bristol first sacker, is pacing the Colonial League regulars with a robust 400 for 27 games.

First Kingston name on the list is Alfonso "Chico" Gerard who dropped six points to .349 since the last release but is among the first five regulars.

(Other Kingston averages: Harvey Porter .278; Rudy Karson .256; Nick Pepio .250; Charlie Aspromonte .247; Frank Merola .224; Joe Sposa .214; Johnny Walter .200; Gerald Murray .194.

Gerard's .349 average is built on 37 hits in 106 at bats, with 24 runs, four doubles, a triple and two homers.

Johnny Manopoli with five wins and one defeat is the leading Kingston hurler. Emil Moscovitz of Poughkeepsie paces the pack with seven out of eight, the lone loss to Kingston, while pitcher-manager Bob Doyle has a 5-1 record.

Other Kingston markers including games up to Wednesday are Bill McKeever, 4-2; Frank Navratil 2-1; Bob Kunze 0-3; Glenn Underwood.

The Colonials retain their defensive leadership with a team fielding average of .950 and are fifth in team batting with .245.

The board of assessors of the Town of Esopus has notified all taxpayers that a re-assessment program is now underway. As this new assessment program will abolish all existing inequalities, cooperation of all residents is requested so that a fair and just as-essment will be made on all lands. All buildings will be measured and each person will be asked for the necessary information concerning his property. Each taxpayer will be notified in late July regarding his new assessment.

The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. has installed a drop-box in the Copight store for the convenience of all residents of the Town of Esopus. Residents may leave their check or cash in an envelope provided by the company and the same will be collected by the representatives of the company. No postage is necessary.

Church services are held on the second and fourth Sundays of the month at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Mr.
Baines will officiate at these services. Sunday school is held every Sunday at 11 a. m.

All veterans of World War 1

Back to Sing Sing
New York, June 10 (AP) There are nearly 8,000,000 people in New York city—but not enough to hide Edward Connelly of Sing Sing prison. Connelly, a trusty who cooked for the warden, made a walkaway escape from Sing Sing last Sunday—the prison's first in nine years. On Thursday, the warden sent two guards to help New York city police in the hunt. Yesterday, walking on West 74th street, they spotted Connelly. He among hundreds of other faces. He made no resistance when arrested.

Songwriter Dies
Philadelphia, June 10 (AP)—Joseph A. Burke, the man who wrote many of the songs we've been singing since talking pictures came in, died yesterday at his suburban Upper Darby apartment.
He was 68. Among the tunes he left behind are "Carolina Moon,"
"Oh, How I Miss You Tonight,"
"You're in My Eyes," "In a Little
Gypsy Tearoom," "A Little Bit
Independent," "Moon Over Miami," "My Harbor of Dreams,"
"Rambling Rose" and "For You."

Know Autos So Probe Costs More

New York, June 10 (AP)—The Brooklyn gambling probe will cost more money because the underworld knows the license plate numbers of the investigators' autos, says Brooklyn District Attorney Miles F. McDonald.
McDonald appealed yesterday to the City Board of Estimate for an additional $50,030 to continue his investigations for another six months.
The board originally appropriated $60,250 for the probe. The prosecution told the board the estimated operating expenses have jumped because the underworld somehow obtained a list of license plate numbers of the investigators' cars. Now the vehicles cannot be used and other cars must be pressed into service.

Machine Industry Moves to Catskill

Catskill, June 10—A new industry hopes to be operating here by July 15, according to one of the officials, and indications are that it will employ 80 men.
The Combined Equipment Co. of Poughkeepsie recently bought at auction the property of the Catskill Metal Works on Main street to use as a machine shop.
Working in close cooperation with the Schenectady Depot, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, the firm will service equipment such as trucks, tractors and other types of machines such as bridge erection equipment.
According to the partners, Edward J. Pesano and Burton W. Slee, all employees, except about eight key men, will be local residents. They advised that the average salary would be $1.25 an hour, with skilled laborers getting a higher rate.
The two men praised the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce in finding a location for their firm.

Clock Will Tell Winners of Watch

Sometime near the end of next week, an old Cornell Steamboat Company marine clock will stop running and two members of the Kingston High School graduating class will receive gift watches.
A grand face was mounted on the clock which had large hands were attached. Fastened to a circle on the outside perimeter of the clock face are the names of the 207 boys in the senior class. On another circle near the center of the face are the names of the 158 girls in the class.
When the clock mechanism runs down, the minute hand will point to boy's name and the hour hand will point to a girl's name. The boy and girl so designated will be each given a Gruen watch by Schneider's Jeweler. If either hand stops on a line, the name next in a clockwise direction will receive the gift.
The clock is on display in Schneider's show window on Wall street. George Schneider estimates it will run down sometime between Saturday, June 17, and the following Tuesday.

Request Is Denied
Lake Success, June 10 (AP)—Poland urged yesterday that Red China be asked to a global conference on assistance to backward areas to be held by the U.N. next week, but Secretary-General Trygve Lie turned down the request. Lie declared the 59-nation General Assembly had directed members specifically to invite only members of the U.N. and its specialized agencies. China is still recognized as the U.N. still the legal government of China. Poland warned that no Warsaw representative would take part in the three-day session unless Red China is invited.

No Cameras, This Time
Southbury, Conn., June 10 (AP)—Nine months ago state police chose the Woodbury Savings Bank here as the scene for a movie showing how the handle bank robberies. The movie shows robbers parking their car in front of the bank and the bank president coming out later shouting "robbery." State police arrive, establish road blocks and capture the robbers. Yesterday two bandits robbed the Woodbury bank of $8,500, holding three employees and four patrons at bay while they scooped up the cash. Then, they fled in a car.

Mine in Coal Pile

Red Bank, N. J., June 10 (AP)—Pennsylvania Railroad officials were trying today to find out how an anti-personnel mine from the South Amboy, N. J., blast area got into a coal tender on a crowded passenger train. The mine, which was held in the tender by army officials, said it could have been set off by fire, heat or agitation. It was found yesterday afternoon in the coal pile of a tender on a train carrying 350 passengers from north Jersey shore points to New York.

Hunt Bandits in Woods

Southbury, Conn., June 10 (AP)—State police pressed a manhunt through dense woods here today for two bandits who staged an $8,500 holdup in a bank in nearby Woodbury. The gunmen fled into the woods yesterday afternoon soon after the Woodbury Savings Bank was robbed. They abandoned their getaway car at the edge of the woods and in their haste also left behind a trail of currency totalling almost $2,400. Nearly 200 state policemen were concentrated in the area where the search was at its height last night.

Fire Threatens Town

St. John's, Newfoundland, June 10 (AP)—Residents of the Northern Newfoundland paper town of Lewisport today continued preparations for evacuation as a forest fire roared out of control 2 1/2 miles from the town. Adding to the danger were 2,000,000 gallons of high octane gasoline stored in the town for the huge airfield at Gander. The blaze was described late last night as completely out of control, though dying winds gave some promise of help.

Will Hold Exams For Welfare Jobs

An open competitive examination to establish a Civil Service eligible list for case workers with the child welfare and public assistance divisions of the County Welfare Department will be held September 30. Candidates for the job may file applications with Thomas Bohan, secretary of the Civil Service Commission, 32 Main street, on or before August 25.

At present three vacancies exist in the case worker classification. The salary range is from $2,520 to $2,880.
Candidates must have been legal residents of Ulster county for at least one year immediately preceding the examination date. They must be high school graduates and possess the qualifications of one of these four groups: (1) four years full-time satisfactory paid experience within the past 10 years in social work or supervised teaching in an accredited school; (2) two years such experience and two full years of education toward a bachelor's degree in a recognized college, university or normal school; (3) graduation from a recognized college, university or normal school from a four-year course for which a bachelor's degree is granted; or (4) a satisfactory equivalent combination of such experience and education. Candidates must possess a license to operate motor vehicles upon the highways of this state.

The supervisors appointed the following trustees for the new college:
Girard Mayer of Middle Hope; Samuel H. Caddaback, Jr., of Port Jervis; Fred S. Florence of Monroe; Samuel Schenck of Newburgh; and Charles C. Chappell of Middletown.

Saugerties School Tax Rate Is $24

Saugerties, June 10—The school tax rate to be recommended at the Board of Education's annual meeting in July is $24, according to budget figures for the 1950-51 period which aggregate $249,495.
The rate is $1.50 lower than the 1948-49 figure of $25.50 per thousand, but $2 higher than the current year's rate, $22.

The tax rate this year was lower chiefly because there was a balance from the previous year of $18,550. This enabled the board to reduce the tax rate for the current school year (1949-50) by $3 per thousand. In the same year that the board reduced taxes by $3.50, it installed oil burners in the Main street school.

The 1950-51 budget is $3,246 higher than for the current year. This increase is because of the higher teachers' salaries and pensions, (mandated by State Law), higher costs for fuel, light and power, rent, public library support, and athletic uniforms.
Increases in teacher's salaries alone are $4,400, which is more than the amount by which the 1950-51 budget is being increased over the current (1949-50) budget. It has been noted that $177,457 of the $249,495 budget will be paid by state and taxpayers outside the school district. The district's contribution will be only $72,038.

Remington to Quit

Washington, June 10 (AP)—William W. Remington will quit his $10,000-a-year Commerce Department job Monday, he can devote his time to trying to prove that "I have never been a member of the Communist Party." Dr. Laurence L. Jarvie, executive dean of the University of the State of New York, attended yesterday's meeting. He estimated that conversion of the Morrison property for college use would cost between $75,000 and $100,000.

The supervisors appointed the following trustees for the new college:
Girard Mayer of Middle Hope; Samuel H. Caddaback, Jr., of Port Jervis; Fred S. Florence of Monroe; Samuel Schenck of Newburgh; and Charles C. Chappell of Middletown.

Boardman Is Going To Newark Scouts; No Successor Yet

Field Scout Executive Charles E. Boardman of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, will leave this area June 15 to accept a position with the Robert Treat Council in Newark, N. J., it was announced today by George Matthews, local council president.

It was also announced today that Gordon B. Hartzell of State College, Pa., has been appointed director of Camp Tri-Mount. The appointment was made by Walter T. Tremper, chairman of the council's camping committee. Thomas W. Jones of West Orange, N. J., will again be waterfront director at the camp. The council camp opens July 16.

A successor to Boardman, who has served in this field area since November, 1947, has not been named. As field scout executive, he was in charge of the Northern Mountain, Western and Saugerties districts of the Rip Van Winkle Council, formerly Ulster-Greene Council.

Boardman was a Boy Scout in the Virgin Islands, where his father was in the United States Customs Service. He graduated from Colgate University in 1938 and made his home in Auburn, where he was employed by the New York State Electric and Gas Corp., and served as an assistant scoutmaster until 1943, when he entered military service. He served in the Air Forces in the American Theatre and in the Pacific. On return from duty, Boardman became scoutmaster of his Auburn troop. He entered a provisional scouting in October, 1947. He joined the Ulster-Greene Council after attending the National Training School for Professional Scout Leaders. This March, he attended the Intermediate School for Scout Leaders at Schutt Scout Reservation, Monaca, N. J.

Boardman lived in Catskill during his assignment with the local council. He was a member of the Catskill Rotary Club and the American Legion. In his new assignment, he will be a district scout executive serving one of the large metropolitan districts in the Robert Treat Council, which serves Newark, Belleville, and Irvington, N. J.

Gordon Hartzell, the new camp director, will graduate this week from Penn State College. After the completion of the Tri-Mount season on August 20, he will go to the Schutt Scout Reservation to attend the National Training School for Professional Scout Leaders to prepare for a career in scouting. He is a native of Butler, Pa., and graduated from West York High School in 1942. He served in the Air Force in the Pacific area from 1943 to 1946. He is an Eagle Scout and has been an assistant scoutmaster. He is married and has one child.
